General Comment

I think it is necessary that OSHA extend the information collection requirement significantly, based on the vast increase in the number of partnerships.

However, it seems that the agency's estimate of the burden of the proposed collection of information was too high. The agency proposes a total increase of 303,493 hours. Based on the increase in the number of partnerships, it seems more feasible to merely double the total burden hours, resulting in an increase of only 57,923 hours. This would result in a total of 115,846 total burden hours, which should be adequate to account for the increasing number of partnerships.

As the number of partnerships continues to increase, the agency may increase the burden hours accordingly.
